

A Piece Being Taken:

In the case where a player forms a mill, that is gets three tokens in a straight line, he/she gets to remove any of the one token from the opposite's end and keep it to its start position and that token cannot be used again.

The above prototypes show a case where a fire side's mill has been created and an ice token is taken off (left).

The ice side's mill has been created and the fire's token has been taken off the board and kept on its starting position. (right)